A recent survey showed that shopping is one of the top reasons people visit Boston – above sightseeing and museums. One look at the city's boutiques, malls, department stores, and outlets and you'll understand why people flock here to stock up on clothes, shoes, jewelry, and books. Give your credit card a workout while enjoying a side of history at Faneuil Hall Marketplace, also called Quincy Market. This area is stocked with quaint stores and tourist-friendly souvenir shops, and it has an amazing food court when it's time to refuel. Or you may prefer to visit the amazing Boston Aquarium with its aquatic exhibits, dolphin and sea lion shows, and the giant ocean tanks. Whatever your preference, a trip to Boston with Brown Tours can't be beat!
